TURKEY Here's a real No. 1! Don't roast your turkey in the oven all night long at a low temperature. Instead, roast it at a proper, higher temperature for fewer hours on Thanksgiving morning. When done, internally it should be 180-185 degrees.

The should be a plentiful supply of turkeys for Thanksgiving. You might want to shop early so that you'll have just the right size for your family.

By the way, it's not too early to be looking for a convenience food for Thanksgiving. You might like to try boneless turkey roasts, often called turkey rolls. The two-to-five pound size was developed to meet the needs of the average homemaker.

The USDA has developed a grade standard specifically for turkey roasts. To qualify for the USDA grade-A shield, the roasts must meet certain requirements.

First, they must be prepared from young turkeys of USDA Grade A quality. Second, each slice must hold together when the roast is cut. Third, a turkey must be inspected for wholesomeness by USDA inspectors to be a U.S. graded roast.

STUDENT LAUNDRING As much as 90 percent of the wardrobe of college and prep school young people may be made from durable press fabrics. Most college dorms today are equipped with coin-operated laundry equipment in a laundry room, where students can take care of their own laundry.

A good time to teach students to do their own laundry is while they are home on weekends. First, teach students to read instructions, not to overload the machine and to note the kind and amount of detergent to use.

Remind students to set the machine for durable press. Most modern laundries have equipment with a durable press cycle that applies to both washing and drying.

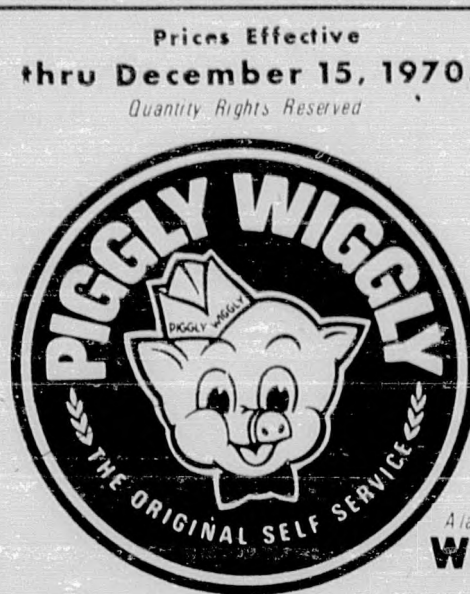

Proper drying is important in handling durable press fabrics. Improper drying can bake in new wrinkles plus the original durable press.

Neil Grantham Back From Special School

Sheriff-elect Ralph Sparks announced this week that Elba's Neil Grantham, who will be the Chief Deputy, has returned from a training course at the University of Alabama. The two-week law enforcement training program was designed specifically for newly elected sheriffs and deputies.

Grantham says that he attended this school with the idea in mind that he would be possible for him to administer. He quoted Mr. Sparks as saying he feels that a continuous training and educational program is a necessity since law enforcement has become such a highly technical profession, and he plans to utilize the services of Federal, State and local instructors to carry on such a continuous training program.

Cooperation is the very essence of an effective law enforcement agency. Mr. Sparks has assured all local, state and federal law enforcement agencies of his full cooperation and has been assured that he will receive theirs. However, he realizes that he must have the cooperation of the public and he earnestly solicits and seeks their cooperation and support.

Today Is Deadline For Christmas Lights

Highway Patrol Tells Of 8 Deaths In State

From 6:00 p.m. Friday through 12 midnight Sunday the Alabama highway patrol investigated 64 rural traffic accidents with 8 fatalities.

STREET PAVING IN ELBA was in full swing this week as the long awaited arrival of State of Alabama paving equipment materialized. The project is to resurface many of the torn up streets that have patches on top of patches and to pave a number of unpaved streets in Elba.

Money for this project was derived from the legislative act several years ago that was designed to remove the state from "doing favors" for certain cities. This act prorates the gasoline tax collected by the state in any given county. This money can then be used by the cities to build or maintain the streets.

Elba's part of the money has been accumulating for several years and the city fathers have also chosen to borrow from the state on the expected future income from this source to do as much paving as possible while the equipment was available.

KERSHNER-ROWE COMMENTARY

"Greedy" Capitalists

The other day a well-educated fellow raised an eyebrow about the concept of profit. "Too many businessmen are grasping and greedy, you see. They have dollar signs in their eyes. They go after profit for the sake of profit. Nothing else."

My reply to this well-meaning gentleman went something like this: Under conditions of economic freedom and free competition, a man in business has a moral obligation to make a profit. Only when he does so as an employee and manager given secure, income-producing opportunities which make it possible for them to support their families, their churches, their favorite charities and worthy causes.

Assuming that business is conducted within the framework of ethical and moral principles, and within the bounds of legality, it can do nothing but good. If this country had a thousand more millionaires, all of it would enjoy a higher standard of living.

Where there is no profit, research, development is retarded, jobs are lost and businesses fail. To paraphrase a Biblical verse, "Where there is no profit, the people perish!"

The reason there were fewer wrecks in the horse-and-buggy days was because the driver didn't depend wholly on his own intelligence. He had a coachman. Florence (Ala.) Herald.

the cause of the consumers and has a part in raising their standard of living to the extent that he operates within the framework of freedom and competition.

Thus it is true that the heads of religious institutions do well to perpetuate the principles of economic freedom, because even the atheistic businessman acknowledges the value of the profit motive.

Pigg Named To Position

The second top level position with the State's Forest Protection Agency was filled today when Governor Brewer approved the appointment of a career employee to be Assistant State Forester.

Charles A. Pigg, a native of Florence, Alabama, with 15 years' service in the forestry organization, was selected by the State Forestry Commission to fill the position. Dr. William R. Sizemore, Commission Chairman, announced the appointment.

Pigg has served in the forest management office and has worked as a fieldman in the north Alabama forestry district. For the past 10 years, he has been assistant to the chief of forest fire control, work in the State forestry headquarters in Montgomery. He holds a degree in forestry from Auburn, is married and the father of three children.

Dr. Sizemore explained that Pigg will fill the Assistant Forester's job to replace C. William Moody, who moved up to take over as head State Forester when J. M. Stauffer retired November 30 after 44 years of service.

"This move is in keeping with the Forestry Commission's efforts to strengthen the State's agency for protecting and developing our forestry resources," Dr. Sizemore said.

After the meeting was adjourned the Christmas party committee met for a few minutes and discussed the plans of the Christmas party.

IT'S Christmas FUN

Chairman Sizemore said, "The growth of forestry to the second leading industry in Alabama, and the importance of healthy, growing trees to our environment are the reasons behind the increased interest in improving the State's forestry organization. We are charged by law to protect and develop all of Alabama's forest resources, he said, and these changes in the Forestry Commission are being made with that goal in mind."

Vets In Rehabilitation Increase 29 Per Cent

The number of disabled veterans in vocational rehabilitation programs increased 29 per cent in the last fiscal year -- from 19,084 to 24,500 the Veterans Administration reported today.

Discussing a trend of generally higher enrollments of 1967, Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson noted that 750,000 disabled veterans have been trained under the rehabilitation programs since World War II. Johnson said 16,749 disabled veterans were in training in April 1969 and 551 for the peak attendance month, in the peak month of April last year, 12,179 participated in vocational rehabilitation programs. In Alabama the figure was 457 for April 1969 and 551 for April 1968.

In July a year ago, the regular school year trainees remained relatively unchanged at about 1,000 during the April through the July period this year.

He explained that attendance figures for July are usually lower than those for the regular school year months, because many disabled veterans who study during the regular school year do not attend summer school.

Johnson also noted that a high of 3,300 to 4,000 applications for training benefits received in May, June and July of this year.

reflect the pattern of higher enrollments of veterans in vocational rehabilitation programs.

Johnson explained that veterans in vocational rehabilitation programs receive smaller allowances than able-bodied veterans who train under the G. I. Bill, however, they also receive full tuition payment, books, supplies and any equipment required in their training programs.

In contrast, veterans under the G. I. Bill must pay these expenses out of their educational allowances checks, Johnson pointed out.

The VA Administrator urged disabled veterans interested in entering vocational rehabilitation programs to contact their nearest VA office.

7 Veterans who are totally disabled at separation have up to one year while still totally disabled to convert their SCIL.

SENIOR OF THE WEEK Lavan Simmons

Our "Senior of the Week" this week is Lavan Simmons. We are really proud of Lavan and feel like he is a perfect example of Senior of the Week. Lavan is interested in attending the sports activities of the school. He believes that the school has been a little run down this past year and he thinks that if everyone had more respect for the school, things would be better again.

Lavan is a member of the Varsity Club and works at Martin's. His favorite teacher is Mrs. McCollough, so his favorite class is bookkeeping.

After high school, Lavan plans to go on to college. Among Lavan's hobbies is drawing.

We salute you Lavan, for having the honor of being elected from among your classmates as "Senior of the Week."

Three Cheers For The Pep Club!

We would like to thank the Pep Club for all the wonderful effort they are putting forth during this basketball season. We think that, in spite of the blasted car drums, sore throats, and other minor difficulties, you are coming through just fine. Thanks, girls. Keep it up!

Student Of Month Ann English

We are proud to have, as "Student of the Month," Ann English. Ann is a junior at EHS and a member of the French Club, the Junior Music Club, and FHS.

Ann's favorite teacher is Coach Carmichael and her favorite subject is history. Ann's philosophy as far as the school is concerned, is "To take more pride in the school." After high school, she plans to go on to college.

Ann enjoys skiing and hunting, when she has the chance. Ann thinks that a boy should be well-mannered and sweet. We feel that we've got a really great Student of the Month this month. Congratulations, Ann, for being elected Student of the Month and for being just the kind of person everyone likes.

Mr. and Miss EHS Selected For 1971

Juniors Attend Special Assembly December 7th

A special assembly of the junior class and the senior class was held Monday, December 7, 1970 at 8:30 a.m. Reverend Jimmy Smith, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist Church introduced the guests.

name we just don't know how to spell. Anita was born in Cuba; it was there at the age of nine that she became a Christian. She later became a Baptist Missionary to her own people, but was captured and put in a communist prison after Fidel Castro took control of Cuba. The government accused her of being a spy for the CIA, an organization which she knew nothing of at that time. It was her belief in which sustained her during her imprisonment.

When she was tried and released she had lost from 115 pounds to 84 pounds. Upon her release, she continued to minister to her people, but finally she and five preachers were released and she went to Spain for one year.

It was in January of this year that she came to America and enrolled in the Baptist Bible Institute at Greenville, Florida. This was her first experience with English, however, she has almost conquered this barrier. She indicated that since her stay in the United States she has had only two letters from her family and these she has received in the last two months.

We are proud of Terry and congratulate her for her well-deserved honor.

DAR Girl

Terry Martin has been selected from among the senior girls as the DAR Good Citizenship Girl by the faculty.

Terry is secretary of Nu Alpha Theta and a member of the Beta Club, YFC Club and the Junior Music Club. She loves her school and thinks it is one of the greatest around. There are things that she disagrees with, but she thinks it wouldn't seem right if the school was perfect. Terry believes that cooperation between the students and teachers would make EHS and even greater school.

All of Terry's teachers have been great, so she really doesn't have a favorite teacher, but her favorite class is English. Because, as she says, Mrs. Butts always, well, just about always, has a smile from ear to ear.

We are proud of Terry and congratulate her for her well-deserved honor.

Christmas is coming, and with it comes the season of sugary treats. To make the holiday most merry, here's a batch of Jolly Jam Tarts. These tiny turnovers filled with sparkling jam add to the fun of holiday feasting. The tender, slightly sweet pastry boasts the tasty, nut-like flavor of quick or old-fashioned oats. And a dusting of snowy confectioners sugar gives the cookie pastries a festive holiday look.

JOLLY JAM TARTS
Makes about 2 dozen tarts

PASTRY:
1 1/2 cups sifted all purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
Heat oven to 375°F. For pastry, sift together flour, sugar and salt into bowl; stir in oats. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water and stir until just moistened. If necessary to make dough hold together, add another tablespoon cold water. Form into ball.

FILLING:
1/2 cup strawberry or raspberry jam
Roll pastry out on lightly floured board or canvas to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut with floured 3-inch round cookie cutter. Place a scant teaspoon jam on half of each circle. Fold remaining half over jam and seal edges with a fork. Prick top of each tart with a fork. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in preheated oven 400°F for 12 to 15 minutes. Cool. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

COFFEE NEWS & CHAT

MEAT COOKING HINTS

Cooking temperature, method of cooking, size and shape of cut, style of cut, desired degree of doneness, meat composition and initial temperature of the meat affect the cooking time for meat.

A slight change in cooking temperature affects the total time needed to cook meat to a certain degree of doneness. Low temperatures are generally recommended for cooking meat in order to produce a tender, juicy meat with little shrinkage.

In general, the larger the cut, the fewer minutes per pound are required to cook the meat. However, a chunky cut requires longer cooking time than a flat, thin one of the same weight.

Style of meat cut affects cooking time. For example, a standing rib roast cooks in considerably less time than if it is boned and rolled. As much as 5 to 10 minutes more per pound may be necessary to cook the rolled roast. Weight, surface area and the shortest distance to the center of the thickest portion must be considered.

The degree of doneness desired can make as much as an hour's difference in cooking time for some meats. A six-pound standing rib roast requires 2 1/4 hours to reach 140 degrees Fahrenheit or rare, 2 1/2 hours to reach 160 degrees Fahrenheit or medium and 3 hours to reach 170 degrees Fahrenheit or well done.

Composition of meat, including the amount of fat covering, affects cooking time. A roast with more fat cooks faster after the fat begins to melt. Melting fat is an excellent conductor of heat. It also prevents some evaporation.

Cooking takes more time when the initial temperature of the meat is low than when it is higher.

BROWN SUGAR

Maybe you've heard the story about adding half an apple to keep your brown sugar soft? If the container is airtight, you've had good advice. But, it is should check the contents occasionally for mold. Of course, another way to soften hard brown sugar is to put it in a slow oven—then use it right away (or it will become even harder after it is cooled).

SELECTING TOYS

The key to a successful toy is a combination of what it does through the involvement of the child. Toys that only entertain will soon be discarded. The real favorites put the child in the action, capture his attention and challenge his young, developing mind and body.

HOLIDAY PLANNING

Plan ahead for the holidays, and avoid the last-minute rush at mealtime. Make full use of the freezer by preparing main dishes, desserts, breads, garnishes and party food well ahead of time and freezing them until they are needed.

Pack foods carefully in airtight containers to prevent moisture loss. For prepared foods such as Light Gives Heat.

A 30-story headquarters building burns lights all night, saves money, and helps ecology in Portland, Ore.

The lights maintain the heat level in the building of Georgia-Pacific, largely without help from any other energy source. This highly efficient energy conservation system during the day reclaims heat generated by human bodies, office equipment and solar heat from outside the building.

There is sufficient heat from the internal sources to handle the entire heating requirements in the building until the outside temperature falls into the 30 to 40 degree range.

Piggly Wiggly promises penny pinchin' price...
